EuroSys 2021 Conference

April 26—29 2021, Virtual (originally in Edinburgh, Scotland, UK)

The EuroSys conference series brings together professionals from academia and industry. It has a strong focus on systems research and development: operating systems, data base systems, real-time systems and middleware for networked, distributed, parallel, or embedded computing systems. EuroSys has become a premier forum for discussing various issues of systems software research and development, including implications related to hardware and applications.

The conference will span four days: associated workshops and tutorials on the first day will be followed by a three-day technical program with a single track of refereed papers (highly selective, with a typical acceptance rate below 20%). EuroSys has historically attracted between 250 and 300 participants. To learn more about EuroSys 2021, including organizers, topics, and schedule, please consult the Web site at http://eurosys2021.org/.

The ACM and the Special Interest Group on Operating System seek corporate support of our conferences. Recent sponsors include:

- Cisco
- Microsoft
